HELMBOLD'S
HIGHLY CONCENTRATED
Compound Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla,
FOR
Purifying the Blood, removing all diseases arising from Excesses of Mercury, exposure and imprudence in life, chronic constitutional diseases arising from an impure state of the Blood, and the most reliable and effectual known remedy for the cure of Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Scald head, Ulcerations of the Throat and Legs, Pains and Swellings of the Bones, Tetter, Pimples on the Face, and Mercurial Erysipelas of the Skin.

In granting to the proprietor of these medicines to be able to state that it is now nearly three years since they were first introduced, during which time they have been extensively used in various parts of the United States, and have given satisfaction and practitioner the highest degree of satisfaction in the various cases in which they have been employed; whether in town, country, hospital or private practice, they have invariably given most decided and unequivocal satisfaction, and produced the most salutary and beneficial effects.

Numerous letters have been received from the most distinguished physicians in the country, and from the professors of several medical colleges, recommending in the highest terms the value of these medicines and their superiority over all other preparations for such complaints as the proprietor recommends. Numerous testimonials of Sarsaparilla and Buchu, and various modes of preparation, have been given, all of which of course differ according to the mode of preparation of each individual may adopt.

These medicines require considerable care in their preparation, and the employment of different extra in successive operation to bring up the active matters, and in consequence, are most frequently imperfectly made, and not unfrequent much impaired, if not rendered totally inert, by injudicious and unskillful management of those unacquainted with pharmaceutical preparations.

It is, therefore of the highest consideration and importance to the public, and to the faculty, that there should be a standard preparation of uniform strength and possessing the most advantageous effect. To effect this, and obviate the evil alluded to, I have made a number of experiments to ascertain the most effectual mode of extracting the virtues of the Sarsaparilla and the Buchu, and to discover the most eligible form for their exhibition. These experiments have resulted most favorably, and I am with much pleasure I now offer to the public the faculty my Compound Fluid Extracts, as a certain safe and effectual remedy for the diseases they are represented to be made from it in a highly concentrated form, and are the most active preparations which can be made. Two table spoonfuls of this Extract Sarsaparilla added to a pint of water is equal to the Lisbon diet drink, and one bottle will equal in strength one gallon of Syrup of Sarsaparilla or decoction, as usually made.

Extract Buchu, ... $1 per bottle, or 6 for $5

The Last Bank Note.

BY A RETIRED ATTORNEY.

From the present, with its serene joys, I sometimes look back upon the past, with its trials and its struggles. In my quiet home in the country, I feel as though the battle had been fought and the victory won. To me life has been a busy, bustling scene, and here in the quiet library, surrounded by these well thumbed volumes of Blackstone, Chitty, and their fellows, I feel as though I had completely emerged from the din of the world, and that my heaven had commenced upon the earth.

In thirty odd years of practice, I have been an actor of many a life-drama which has proved to others some portion of the interest with which I regard them; but more I say on amusement, however, than for the information of the reader—though I trust my narrative may not be without its moral—I transcribe from the page of memory an incident from my experience.

I was seated in my office busily engaged in plotting up the law for a certain case of great importance, when the door was timidly opened, and a young lady, apparently not more than seventeen years of age, stepped into the room. Without being very pretty, she had a countenance and expression which could not fail to attract the interest of the beholder.

She was quite pale, and seemed to shrink with instinctive dread from the glance I bestowed upon her. Yet her sweet face and gentle manners had already won my sympathy. Her sad face and timid movements assured me that she had a pitiful tale to tell; and I was not disposed to hear it.

A visitor with a less prepossessing face would have called forth a frown and a short answer, for I was in the very midst of an investigation which promised to reward my search in a satisfactory manner.

She advanced towards my desk, and I closed my book and arose to receive her.

'Mr. Docket?' said she, and I saw her lips tremble with emotion as she spoke.

I signified to her that I was the person she sought, and handed her a chair; a civility which her trembling frame enabled her to appreciate, for her agitation seemed to be entirely beyond her controls.

After allowing her a few moments to recover her self possession, I gently inquired her business with me.

I have a brother,' she began, and the hot tears filled her eyes, and for a moment obstructed her vision.

Her heart seemed to choak with its wild beatings.

'May I know whom I address?' I asked, moderating my voice, so as to afford her all the encouragement which a gentle tone could convey.

'Miss Wade,' she replied.

'You seem to be in distress. Let me beg of you to be calm; perhaps your case is not so bad as you suppose.'

'May heaven send that it is not.'

'Take your own time, Miss Wade. Perhaps you had better wait a few moments till you feel better able to proceed, and in the mean time I assure you of my desire to serve you.'

'Thank you sir,' sobbed she, and I turned to my law books, so as not to embarrass her by seeming to wait for her to recover her calmness.

But I had lost the clew to the investigation, and though I fixed my eyes upon the book, it was only to think of the weeping maiden by my side. I waited till her sobbing ceased, and then carefully approached the object of her visit.

'I am taking up your time, Mr. Docket; but if I have heard that you were a kind and charitable gentleman, and I have ventured to seek your aid.'

It was a very blunt compliment, but I doubted not its sincerity. There could be no hypocrisy in that gentle maiden, none, even to accomplish the most cherished purposes.

'Whatever I can do for you, Miss Wade, shall be done with the greatest pleasure,' I added.

'Thank you sir.'

'You must not look on the dark side of your case. In law we regard a man as innocent, till he is proved to be guilty; and you must not regard anything as hopeless, until all efforts to redeem it have failed,' I continued, with a smile, from which she seemed to gather the hope I desired to impart.

'I have a brother, he only brother, who is in the deepest distress.'

'His name?' I asked, taking up my pen, ready to note down the facts in the case, as she detailed them.

'Richard Wade.'

'Go on, if you please.'

'He is a book-keeper in the store of, Donley & Co.'

'All,' said I, wrote it down and being acquainted with the firm I began to feel more confidence in my ability to aid my fair client.

Donley & Co., were merchants of established reputation for integrity and uprightness.

'My mother is a widow, and dependent upon Richard for support. She has been afflicted with a cancer for many years, so that I can do nothing but take care of her and do the work at home. It takes all of Richard's salary to support us, and pay the doctor's bills; but he has labored cheerfully for us, for his poor suffering mother.'

The poor girl's emotion choked her again, and I turned to my book to let her recover herself.

'Richard is very kind, and sees thinks of the many deprivations which our circumstances compel him to endure. He is contented to work, early and late, and never spends a dollar upon himself. Oh sir, he is such a good brother!'

'Your mother must be grateful for such a son, and you for such a brother.'

'Oh we are sir! But, poor Richard! he is in jail now,' And she sobbed as though her heart would break.

'Indeed! In jail?'

I was not exactly prepared for such a catastrophy as this, and I confess that my feelings, as a lawyer if it was, were much moved. But it was possible that the poor girl was deceived in regard to her brother, that he was an angel at home, and a demon abroad, as I have known more than one man to be.—Yet I could not reconcile that loving eulogium which the young lady had pronounced upon his character with such a conclusion.

'Of what is he accused. Miss Wade? Nay, do not weep, he may be innocent.'

'I know he is!' she answered with considerable vehemency.

'Then he asserted his innocence will be made apparent to the world?'

'Would that I could feel so!'

'Now, if you will please state the facts in the case I will make a memorandum of them, and I doubt not that we shall be able to make a good case of it.'

'Why mother's sickness has reduced my brother's finances down to the lowest ebb—so low that we have not even a dollar to pay our quarter's rent, and the landlords—Richard was much disturbed by the difficulty, and for several days he was very sad.—But one day he came home with an unusual cheerful face, and informed us that he had paid the rent and all the bills.'

[Concluded to-morrow.]

Good Omens.

The election in Connecticut, which has just terminated in the defeat of the slave-holding Democracy, and in a warning to the traitor, Senator Toucey, to put his home in order, is the last of a series of the most desperate, but unfortunately unavailing, efforts have been made to suppress the spirit of liberty in New-England. All that could be done by the most unscrupulous exercise of Executive influence—all that could be done by the most profuse expenditure of large sums of money—all that could be done by secret bargains and arrangements with Slave-driving and Slave-extending members of the late Whig party—has been done, and done in vain. In New-Hampshire, in Rhode Island, and here in Connecticut, all these desperate and costly efforts of the slave-driving Democracy have availed them nothing. In spite of the division of the Anti-Nebraska host into two separate party organizations—from which their opponents hoped so much—the cause of liberty and of the rights of the North has carried the day in a glorious triumph. Its influence is thus afforded of what may be expected from New-England when indeed roused from the entire North, at the approaching Presidential election.

The overthrown slaveholders, who, the Journal of Commerce at their head, are endeavoring indeed to seek consolation in the fact that the Anti-Nebraska majority in these three States is not so great now as it was at the preceding elections; and it is even suggested that if the slavedriving party go on gaining in the same proportion at the next Autumn they may carry all these States. No doubt the arithmetical calculation is correct enough; and so a man who has fallen twice to jump across a ditch, but has at both times landed up to his neck in the mire, may argue that as his second effort has succeeded his first, so if he continues to gain in the same proportion, a third jump may land him safely on the other side. Experience and common sense, however, show us that in such cases the second effort is generally the climax, and that two successive failures carry with them an exhaustion of strength and diminution of confidence, the place of which no more desperation can supply.

Having repelled these fierce and determined assaults of the enemy, the Anti-Nebraska party on all these States now stands on commanding ground. The strength and desperation, however, which the slave-drivers have exhibited, and the strong hold which they have been able to make, show the necessity of untiring activity and complete organization on the part of their opponents. This we trust will not be wanting. There must be thousands of good citizens, to whom our old stereotyped party struggles of Whig and Democrat have seemed little better than the contest of knave and cheat, to whom the present opportunity to vindicate the real principles of Democracy, the rights of the Free States, and the character of our National Government, must hold out an inducement to engage actively in politics such as they have never had before. Let these men not be wanting in this great cause. Hours and days given to the country now may be more available towards promoting an intelligent brightening up its social and political atmosphere, than years, at another time.—N. Y. Tribune.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 8, 1856.

Messrs. C. & J. Marshall—Gentlemen. At the request of your Agent in Baltimore, in regard to the opinion and experience of your copper-coated nails, we, without hesitation, say we believe them the best substitute for copper yet introduced, for better fastening for ships, inasmuch as you have the strength of iron with the preservative qualities of copper.

We have used some of your Spikes in old vessels as a substitute for copper, and have had occasion to draw them out a year afterwards, and found them with the coating as firm as when they were driven, and with no appearance of oxidation.

Very respectfully yours,
(Signed) JOHN D. FARDY & BRO.

Sewing Machines.

To Clothiers, Tailors, &c.

NOW IS THE TIME, during the dull season, and before the hurry of business, to introduce the Sewing Machines. An investment of $125 in a Sewing Machine will procure more clear profit than a much larger sum invested in any other way. Having settled all suits against our Machines, there is not a shadow of claim against them. The Bachelder and Florence machines, both infringing our patent, we have prosecuted in the United States Court, having jury trials in separate Courts, and we have come out triumphantly. Next the Wheeler & Wilson, and the Grover & Baker, are expected to come off this month. We therefore caution the public not to purchase or use any of the infringing Machines, if they desire to escape litigation, for we shall claim our rights.

I. M. SINGER & CO.

Sewing Machines.

The great and peculiar advantage of Singer's Sewing Machines is this:

One Machine will perform every kind of work perfectly by simply changing the Needle and Thread; the machines are simple in their operation, strong, durable, and not liable to get out of order.

All who wish to purchase, and the public in general, are invited to call at No. 41 Broad street, Bangor.

Hon Luther Severance.

We had intended, as soon as we could find space, to make some extracts from Mr. Blaine's Memoir of Luther Severance, but as The Portland Advertiser has given an interesting condensation of some of the historical parts of it, we adopt that. In speaking of the Memoir, the Advertiser truly says the people of Maine will gladly welcome at this time such a tribute to one of the most worthy citizens and public servants that ever lived among us. Mr. Blaine has done his work well—and though accomplishing it in the midst of arduous editorial labors, he has given a complete sketch of Mr Severance's political career, with adequate glimpses of his personal and social character.

Luther Severance was born in the town of Montague, Massachusetts, on the 28th of October 1797, of worthy parents of English descent. When he was two years old, the family removed to Cazenovia, Madison county, New York, where he remained till he had completed his sixteenth year. Then he repaired to Peterboro, to learn the printing trade, in which he continued five years. Having mastered his art, he set out in quest of employment, in 1819, and travelled to Albany and thence to New York, but being disappointed, he consummed on to Philadelphia, where he found work in the printing office of The Aurora, a Monroe paper, as politics then went. This was in 1820, the year of the Missouri Compromise—and the fact is of especial interest as connected with Mr Severance's debut as a political writer. He furnished the Aurora with an anonymous article in opposition to the Compromise, which, for its array of facts and able argumentation, excited considerable attention. Towards the close of that year he went to Washington, and worked in the Intelligencer office till 1824, contributing, at times, articles which won the valuable commendation of Joseph Gales then as now in the foremost rank of American editors.

Mr Blaine gives the interesting incidents attending the origin of the Kennebec Journal and Mr Severance's connection therewith—but we can only say that he was induced to try his fortunes in a new paper in Maine, which issued its first number on the 5th of January 1825. Here he commenced that life of constant exertion which is so well known to our citizens—doing all kinds of office work—frequently putting his thoughts in type, fresh from the brain, without the instrumentality of the pen. He at once took an interest in the prosperity of his new neighbors and made himself a most useful citizen of Augusta, of which fact the Kennebec dam, originally suggested in public by him, will afford a lasting testimonial. In politics, he early and throughout supported J Q Adams for the presidency, though party lines were not strictly drawn till many years after he went to Augusta. The sketch given by Mr Blaine of our Maine politics during the Adams and Jackson period, is very clear and interesting.

In 1829 Mr Severance was chosen to the Representative of Augusta in the State Legislature, and "exhibited says Mr Blaine, "the same calm, imperturbable spirit and the same ready strength and force which at the early age of thirty two, marked him as the ablest political editor in the State. As parties began to assume definite outlines, Mr Severance commenced his ardent advocacy of Henry Clay, which never afterwards flagged. This dates more particularly from the nomination of Heleg Sprague for Governor in February, 1831. In giving an account of the Convention, Mr Severance thus speaks of a gentleman since somewhat prominent as the editor of the New York Express:

"James Brooks the editor of the Portland Advertiser and a self made young man of great promise made an admirable speech, in which he defended the protecting system and the principles of the National Republican party, in an eloquent manner."

In 1832, the party which had opposed General Jackson, took in some places the name of Whig—but not in Maine, where Daniel Goodenow was the candidate for Governor the following year and George Evans was chosen to Congress both under the name of National Republicans. But in 1834, Mr Severance adopted the title of Whig, to which he clung till he recognized the dissolution of the party in 1854. In 1835 and 36 he was chosen a member of the Senate, and added still further to his reputation. In the following year, laboring with Samuel Wells and other ardent Whigs, he had the pleasure of witnessing the election of Gov Kent Gen Hastman had a most able supporter in him during the campaign of 40. In 1848, Mr Evans, who had long and honorably been Representative of the Kennebec District in Congress, was promoted to the Senate, and Mr Severance was nominated as his regular successor. It was expected by no opponents that he would forbear to press their claims—but he had no such false delicacy, saying with great good sense:

"By taking this course, it will be seen the guns of the only Whig paper in the district will be spiked. That will never do. Our editorial duty to our political friends to the State, and to the country, must be performed as it ever has been without flinching; and, we hope, with renewed vigor, zeal and usefulness."

The Democratic party nominated Samuel Wells, and the Liberty party Seth May. There was no choice on the first trial, a majority then being necessary for election. Great efforts were made to defeat Mr Severance on the second trial—among other devices Mr Wells being represented as a "no-party man." The following will serve as a specimen of the way in which Mr Severance disposed of this special pleading:

"Mr Wells does certainly have the advantage of us in having been on both sides. In 1838, he offered his resolutions in favor of Henry Clay at the Belgrade Convention. In 1840, he took the stump for Van Buren and Governor Fairfield—Does the Age mean to say that fighting on one side one year, and on the other side the next, exactly neutralizes a man as a Politician and makes him a 'no-party man?' Is it a recommendation of him to the party he has deserted?—or does the Age mean to say that Mr Wells is coming back to us, and having got just half way, he is now in the exact position to receive the votes of both parties—having joined both and deserted both in turn?"

Mr Severance was chosen on the second trial, by more than five hundred majority over both opponents. He was re-elected over Gen W S S. Moor. His four years Congressional service was marked by his usual well-directed and conscientious labors. His speeches on the Tariff and the Seizure on the Mexican War won him considerable reputation. In the campaign of '48 he warmly supported Gen. Taylor, whom he received the nomination, in 1856, of Comfort, happiness and independence are within the reach of every industrious citizen of Maine—especially to those who till the soil,—and no more than this can be enjoyed in the most favored region of earth.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS. The Republicans of Bangor will see by a notice from the City Committee that a Caucus is called for this evening at the City Hall, for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the District Convention at Exeter, on Wednesday next—which Convention is to make choice of three delegates to the National Republican Convention. It is desirable that there should be a full attendance at the Caucus.

REPUBLICAN MEETING IN NEW YORK.—The call for a meeting in the Tabernacle, Tuesday evening of all opposed to the extension of slavery, was signed by between two and three thousand citizens, including many of the most substantial merchants of the city.

The N Y Times says of the meeting:

"The call which we publish to-day for a public meeting at the Tabernacle, this evening, will excite attention from the long list of respectable names attached to it. It is not a difficult matter, in a city, like New York, to procure as many names as may be desired, of some kind or other, for almost any kind of a meeting—But it is seldom that so large a number of the prominent citizens of New York—many of whom have been political antagonists heretofore, and many, too, who have never been identified with any political movement, though eminent for their participation in those great benevolent and commercial enterprises on which this city—have signed a call for a political meeting. The call for a meeting to-night is a gathering of the deep hold which the republican principles for the movement has taken of the people at the North. The meeting is called for the purpose of hearing the reports of the delegates to the Pittsburg Convention, and measures for an organized expression of the sentiments and opinions at the next Presidential election. It is addressed to those 'who are opposed to the encroachments and policy of the present Administration, for the extension of slavery in the territory embraced within the limits of the Missouri Compromise, and in favor of the admission of Kansas as a free State.' The principles arising from the very nature of our institutions, and of the fluid in the repeal, and of restoring the action and position of the Federal Government on the subject of slavery, to the principles of Washington and Jefferson."

Addresses from several eminent men among them, Mr. Galloway, of Ohio, Mr. Harlan, of Iowa, and Mr. Fessenden.

The Recent Massacre at the Isthmus.

The following from The Aspinwall Courier of April 17th, gives a more full account of the late fatal conflict at Panama, between the steamship passengers and the natives.

The difficulty originated in a dispute about one dime, between an intoxicated passenger and a native, respecting payment for a piece of watermelon. The story is, that the native, being much exasperated by the conduct of the passenger, drew a knife on seeing which, the passenger fired at the native and severely wounded him. This brought forward another native, who stabbed the passenger; and then the combatants increased considerably on both sides for some time, a number were shot, and more badly cut with machetes. Through the exertions of Mr J W Johnson, the Panama Railroad Superintendent at the Panama Station, the fight was then stayed for a short time. But, anon, it broke out with renewed violence, and an apparent organization and evident method, which told fearfully for the natives. About this time it began to be evident that spite against the Railroad Company, and plunder, were the chief motives of the atrocities and depredations which had been and were to be committed.—The first affray occurred between 6 and 7 P. M. and but brief intervals of tolerable quiet occurred between that hour and midnight. The most terrible assault was made between 9 and 10 o'clock. All the officials on the station, with the exception of the Superintendent, lost everything they had in clothing, and valuables of every description. The Panama Railroad counting room (including the desks of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company) was entirely ransacked, and everything of value carried off; the books and papers were cut and torn to pieces, and one of the safes (which contained but little money) was broken open and pillaged while the other was pierced to the inner linings but nothing taken therefrom. Every drawer and desk and closet was ransacked, and nothing was left in its place or uninjured. The freight-house was riddled with balls, and all the baggage that had not been put in the lighters to go off in the steamer was rifled.

Some twenty foreigners were killed, and between thirty and forty badly wounded—among the latter were several women and children.

An attempt having been made to get the passengers who were in the vicinity of the station on board the little steamer, the natives formed a guard at the beach, and stripped men, women and children, as they approached, taking the women's rings from their fingers and ears, and their pins from their cuffs and bosom.

They made here the most successful and luxuriant pillage of the night. A large number of the passengers passed through this ordeal, and among them were few who had not several hundred dollars, and some as much as five, six and seven thousand dollars. Most yielded to the demands of the robbers, without much resistance, and those who made attempts to escape or resist were immediately cut down.

Although the number of dead and wounded known, is not greater than we have stated, we feel confident that more were killed than have been found, or of whom we have any tidings.

The names of some of the killed and wounded have been published heretofore. Mr Joe M Parker of this city, was cut on the head with a machete—had his skull fractured, and received a stab in the loins.

APPLICATION FOR DISPENSATION FOR PROVIDENCE. A letter received in this city from Mr Robert Boyd, is well known and respected citizen of Taylor county, Va, dated April 17 states that on Saturday morning, 5th inst, his youngest son was taken sick, and the same night another son was taken sick in the same manner. On Monday, the 7th, a daughter, eleven years old, was taken as the others. The youngest boy died at 10 o'clock on that day, and on Wednesday, the 9th, the other son and daughter, all were laid in one grave. On the day they were buried, two other children were taken ill, and on the 13th one died making a loss of four children in one week.

But this was only a portion of the cup of bitterness. On th Saturday before the death of his last son the fires which have been raging so extensively lately in Virginia broke out two miles from his residence, and in one hour he was stripped of all he possessed house, barn, wheat, hay, oats and corn cribs! The spring boy was removed hastily to save him from the raging flames, and when brought back there was not a bed to lay him on to die!

The resignation and manly fortitude with which Mr Boyd tells the story of his household wreck is touching in the extreme. He will receive the sympathy of every heart, and of all that human kindness can do to supply his temporal losses will doubtless be done, but who shall give him back the loved ones of his household, who have thus been taken from him at one fell swoop!—Washington Star, 22d.

I. O. O. F.

The Thirty-Seventh Anniversary of the introduction of this Order into the United States was celebrated in Cincinnati on the 24th inst. The papers in that city of the following day give full and glowing particulars of the exercises, which are styled the "Grandest Pageant of the year."

The procession numbered about six thousand persons, and the style and precision of marching, and the display of regalia, symbols, decorated cars, etc, are pronounced by The Enquirer to have been unparalled. The streets were magnificently arched, festooned and otherwise decorated.

The oration was delivered by Rev Hosea Ballou Williamson, under Van Amburgh's capacious tent.

The Patriarch of the Order, Thomas Wildy, Esq, P G S, was present.

The Concert by Miss Adelaide Phillipps, in this city was completely successful. Deering Hall was filled with a delighted audience. Miss Phillipps sang finely so did Mr Adams, who accompanied her. They were encored on each appearance, and gave the audience, consequently, just twice what the programme promised. Mr May, the pianist, took the house by storm, by his splendid fingering of the instrument. His imitation of the drum and fife was capital. The entire Concert was a rare and rich treat to our music-loving citizens.—Portland Argus.

ANTI-MAN OF GOV WELLS. The people in a neighborhood in an adjoining town, observed Thursday the 10th of April, as Fast Day. This was owing to the circumstance of one of their most prominent men reading a proclamation appointing that day, in a Massachusetts paper, not knowing but that it was for this State.—Vienna Transcript.

"Mamma, Lucy says this is my birth-day," and a sunny faced little boy a few mornings since. "Yes, Dicky, you are seven years old," replied the mother. "Will the stores keep open to-day, mamma?" "Yes, my son, but school don't."

Interesting Letter from Jenny Lind—Her Sympathy for Barnum.

The Philadelphia Times has been favored with the perusal of a letter from Jenny Lind Goldschmidt to a lady in that city, of which the following is an extract:

I had been surprised, some time previous, of the difficulty with the company, [Jerome Clock] but had not the least idea he was so deeply involved. Now that the crash has come and ruin and poverty stare him in the face, I feel that he has all my sympathies. Yes, I do most deeply sympathize with him. I know the American people will hardly believe him to be utterly ruined. This is to be expected, as he [Barnum] had the reputation of being a smart, shrewd and intelligent business man, the truth of which I can myself bear witness to. Mr Barnum had other qualities, of which the American people know little or nothing.—His nature was the very acme of generosity and thousands of untold and unheard of generous deeds will daily stand for any errors of judgement he may have and doubtless has committed. You know my dear friend those gift and charity concerts which I was made to participate in, not that it did not meet cordial approval, yet they all sprung from Mr Barnum, which although he was shrewd enough to know would return again ten-fold, yet his soul was in the act, nor would he listen to my remonstrances that he, too, should share in whatever credit might have been attached to them. I know, also, that he was continually importuned by needy people for assistance, and I feel most positively assure you, as I believe to be the case, that none ever left him unassisted who was in the least degree deserving. I think, however, that his genius and talent will not long permit him to remain in impoverished obscurity. His determined will will soon arouse him to action, and in a short space of time he will have surmounted the difficulties and would have paralyzed the energies of any ordinary man.

I will not dwell longer upon this subject. It is, indeed, painful for me to contemplate. I believe a good man should never fall, nor shall he [Barnum] do so for the want of a friend.—His pride will not permit him to write to me under the circumstances—mine compels me to write to him. He nor his shall ever know want while I have it in my power (which owing to the goodness of Heaven, I have now) to keep it away. But let us hope that things are not as bad as represented, and that the next steamer will bring more agreeable tidings.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE. Mr Weller read a letter to which it responded, in reference to the Chagres Race and the struggle between Chagres and Panama. It appears that the Costa Rican authorities have furnished the Costa Rican state of war now exists between the two countries. Costa Rica has invaded Nicaragua, and he did not desire, were it in his power, to subvert the Monroe doctrine. The Americans who are in the province of Guanacaste have been driven out by the Costa Rican forces.

Mr Weller, in relation to the Panama and the best mode of transit across the Isthmus, said the best mode was by railroad, and he had introduced a bill to that effect, but as there had been no action upon it, he would withdraw it, and introduce a resolution requesting the President to furnish the Senate with the correspondence relative to the outrages committed upon the persons and property of citizens of the United States at Panama, and to demand indemnity for the same. He would also ask that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr Seward thought it would be better to adopt the resolution at once, as it was a matter of great importance that the President should take immediate action in the matter. He regarded the proposed treaty between Great Britain and Nicaragua as a most extraordinary document. It was the first time that he had ever known a foreign power to claim the right to make treaties for the United States. He regarded the proposition as one of the most monstrous that could be made. He would not delay the passage of the resolution, but he thought it would be better to refer it to the Committee on Foreign Relations, as there had been no action upon the subject

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, May 1.

SENATE. Mr. Weller read a letter from Gen. Walker, in which it is asserted that the British government have interfered in the present struggle between Costa Rica and Nicaragua, and have furnished the Costa Ricans with arms. A state of war now exists between those governments. Costa Rica invaded Nicaragua, though she did not declare war against her, but against the Americans who aided the present party in power to subvert the old government.

Mr Weller, in relation to the recent riot at Panama, said the best of feeling exists between that government and the government of New Granada, and he had no doubt that the whole power of the latter would be exercised to bring the offenders to justice.

Mr Seward remarked that several weeks ago, in this session, a resolution was adopted calling on the President for information on this subject, but in there had been no response, the President probably had good reasons in view of the complicated state of affairs, for declining to answer the resolution.

Mr Weller replied that he was not aware of that fact, that he would not have offered it this day.

Mr Seward thought it was better to let the subject rest a day or two, as information concerning it was daily being received, and it was important that the President should be left free to exercise his discretion in this delicate matter.

Mr Douglas believed that the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty was being violated every day by Great Britain, and that something ought to be done about it. He regarded the present government of Nicaragua legitimate—as much so as the other existing governments of Central America.

It was the firmest and most stable government there had been there since the throwing off of the Spanish yoke; and, so far as he knew, justice was more impartially administered and the rights of person and property more securely guarded and protected under the existing government than under any previous one. Nor was there any objection in his mind that an American birth was in command of the Nicaraguan army. Nicaragua has as much right to become a asylum of emigrants from this country as we have to receive European emigrants. She has as much right to naturalize Gen. Walker and give him military command as we had to do the same by Gen. Shields. Further, Nicaragua had as much right to send an American born Minister to this country as we have to send a man of foreign birth to represent us in the courts of Spain, Italy or Holland. He believed we ought to enforce our Neutrality laws, but not go further than the line of our duty.

Mr. Butler thought we ought to be careful not to involve ourselves in a war with any nation through the acts of intermeddling adventurers.

Mr Weller withdrew the resolution.

Mr Toombs spoke in opposition to the action of the Naval Board, contending that the law was not properly executed, therefore the proceedings under it are void. Adjourned.

HOUSE. Mr Maxwell spoke on the southern side of the slavery question, and Mr Perry against the extension of slavery, and in favor of the restoration of the Missouri restriction, and unfriendly to the Republican party.

Mr Quitman introduced a bill to repeal certain sections of the neutrality laws. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

FROM KANSAS.—ARRESTS OF FREE STATE-MEN.—SHERIFF JONES SHOT.—St. Louis, April 30.—A letter to the Democrat, dated 24th inst, says that while Sheriff Jones was sitting in the door of the soldiers, he was shot by a party outside, and dangerously wounded. Jones had made twenty arrests during the day, assisted by a company of dragoons, under Lieut. Armstrong. Much excitement prevailed in regard to the shooting. The perpetrator of the deed is unknown. The attention of Jones at present is very critical, his life being despaired of.

The Great European Cough Remedy.

Important to the Consumptive and the Public generally!
The celebrated

Universal Cough Mixture

IS a safe, and effectual Remedy for Coughs of every description, whether of children or adults, of recent or long standing.

PREPARED ONLY BY

REV. WALTER CLARKE,
Sole Proprietor, Cornishville, Maine.

Within the last twelve months thousands of bottles of the Universal Cough Mixture have been sold in the State of Maine alone, and everywhere its extraordinary power in relieving and curing diseases of the Chest and Lungs, is gracefully acknowledged; and especially in cases of obstinate and long standing Coughs, it speedily allays the unpleasant sensation in the throat which excites coughing, it promotes free and easy expectoration, and in removing the exciting cause of the cough, it frequently enables the patient to enjoy natural and refreshing sleep, who for weeks had been deprived of that blessing.

☞ Sold in trial bottles, 25 cents each; large bottles, each containing the quantity of four small ones, 75 cents each.

Extract of a letter from Daniel Adams, Esq., of Bowdoinham, Maine.

February 17th, 1853.

To Rev. Walter Clark. Dear Sir—The bottle of Cough Mixture which I bought of you, has done the most effect on my wife. She had been afflicted with a cough for two years—that bottle entirely removed it.

From Rev. Jesse Hoyt, Lewiston Falls.

Rev. Clarke—Every bottle of the Universal Cough Mixture which you left with me I sold—and I have several applications for more. As far as heard from, all have been perfectly satisfied with the medicine. One man, who had a cough of long standing, attended with pain in the chest and shortness of breath so that he was afraid of consumption, purchased one large bottle, and before he had taken one third of it, he informed me that he had no cough since. He says it is the best medicine in the world, and cannot be recommended too highly.

JESSE HAYES.

From Mr. Fletcher Chick, agent for North Dixmont, Maine.

Dear Sir—A number of the most extraordinary cures have been effected by your Universal Cough Mixture in this place. Several who had couple of years standing, and others who have been afflicted six months without receiving any benefit, have been speedily cured by the Universal Cough Mixture.

From Mrs. Rubbard, Thorndike, Me.

February 19th, 1854.

To Rev. Walter Clark. Dear Sir—This certifies that I purchased one bottle of your Universal Cough Mixture for a distressing cough and soreness in the lungs. I had previously taken several kinds of medicine and had been under the care of several physicians, without obtaining the least relief, happily your Universal Cough Mixture was recommended to me. I accordingly procured a bottle, began to take according to directions on the label, by which in a few days I was entirely cured.

MARGARET P. HUBBARD.

☞ Sold wholesale by the Proprietor, Cornishville, Maine.

ARNOLD'S COMBINED
FOOT-STOVE, LANTERN,
....AND....
NURSE-LAMP.

ALBERT NOYES having purchased the exclusive right for manufacturing and vending in Penobscot county, the above valuable invention, is now prepared to offer them to the public.

As a FOOT STOVE, it answers an excellent purpose, as it can be safely carried in and lighted in less than one minute to warm and dry the feet in the coldest winter weather, and will be found to be an indispensable article in traveling. It is heated by an oil, alcohol, or fluid lamp, the flame of which is protected from every external object.

As a LANTERN, it answers all the usual purposes, and is less likely to be overset, or get broken and can be used as a house lamp, with equal advantage.

As a NURSE LAMP, and in cases of sickness, it is of great advantage in keeping drinks or medicines warm, beside giving the light desired, and for cooking in small quantities. For making tea, &c., it will be found very convenient, as a quart of water can be boiled in fifteen minutes, and a flat-iron heated in the same length of time.

In fact, the various purposes to which this neat apparatus can be put may be readily conjectured by every one. No further description is required, as no one can misunderstand its general utility. To say any thing more respecting its adaptability to a hundred purposes would just be telling what our readers can all see at once for themselves.

For sale, wholesale and retail, at

A MARVELLOUS REMEDY
For a Marvellous Age!!

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT!!

The Grand External Remedy.

By the aid of a microscope we see millions of little openings on the surface of our bodies. Through these this Ointment, when rubbed on the skin, is carried to any organ or inward part. Diseases of the Kidneys, Disorders of the Liver, affections of the Heart, inflammation of the Lungs, Asthmas, Coughs and Colds, are by its means effectually cured. Every home knows that salt passes through bone or meat of any Quickness. This healing Ointment far more readily penetrates bone or fleshy part of the living body, curing the most dangerous inward complaints that cannot be reached by other means.

Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, and Scorbutic Humors.

No remedy has ever done so much for the cure of diseases of the Skin, whatever form they may assume, as this Ointment. No case of Salt Rheum, Scurvy, Sore Head, scrofula, or Erysipelas can long withstand its influence. The inventor has travelled over many parts of the globe, visiting the principal hospitals, dispensing this Ointment, giving advice as to its application, and has thus been the means of restoring countless numbers to health.

Sore Legs, Sore Breasts, Wounds and Ulcers.

Some of the most scientific surgeons now rely solely on the use of this wonderful Ointment, when having to cope with the worst cases of sores, wounds, ulcers, glandular swellings, and tumors. Professor Holloway has, by command of the Allied Governments, despatched to the hospitals of the East, large shipments of this Ointment, to be used under the direction of the Medical Staff, in the worst cases of wounds. It will cure any ulcer, glandular swelling, stiffness or contraction of the joints, even of 20 years' standing.

Piles and Fistulas.

These and other similar distressing complaints can be effectually cured if the Ointment be well rubbed in over the parts affected, and by otherwise following the printed directions around each pot.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

Bunyons,	Sprains
Burns,	Stiffs
Chapped Hands	Sore Throats
Chilblains	Stiff Joints
Contracted Glands	Ulcers
Fistulas	Venereal Sores
Gout	Wounds of all kinds
Lumbago	Sore Heads.
Sore Breasts
Sore Throats
Sore—of all kinds.

Sold at the Manufactories of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and 244 Strand, London, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers of Medicines throughout the United States, and the civilized world, in Pots, at 25 cts., 62½ cents, and $1 each.

There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

N. B. Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each Pot.

Cheap & Convenient Building.
Door, Sash and Blind Factory.
A. DUNBAR

HAS been very successful in completing several contracts for Door Frames, Doors, Window Frames and Sashes, and Blinds, for good dwelling-houses and other buildings to be erected in this city, the coming season. He has excellent workmen in his employ, and has superior stock, so that he is now able to supply to those about to build the best articles of Door Frames, Window Frames, Sashes, and Blinds, made to any dimensions and of superior quality, either for a whole building or for a less quantity. The trouble and expense of building is very much lessened by having these articles made separately, so that the carpenters have only to put them in their places in the structure.

This business has now become so well systemized that only a small margin is left in knowing beforehand the cost of a dwelling-house, while the work is of a uniform excellent quality.

Any one interested can examine specimens of the work at the factory, near the Essex Place, or at the store of M. S. Jackson, on Exchange-st., and at either place any article may be obtained or ordered.

Mr. Dunbar is also prepared to furnish Window Blinds ready painted, and will hang them at the shortest notice.

By long experience, and by determined perseverance, the subscriber is now enabled to suit his customers, both in quality and price, and so well organized in the business that no man should now think of building in the old and slow and imperfect methods.
